Your Will

Leaving clear instructions for your loved ones is a thoughtful way to relieve them of pressure at a difficult time. Remembering us in your Will can remind family and friends of the Values you shared in life and provide service to those in greatest need in the community.

Contact your solicitor or trustee to make or add to your Will to ensure your wishes are best reflected in how your Estate is managed. See below should you need guidance on wording or a template.

Types of Bequest

Your solicitor or trustee is best to advise you, but in general there is:

- Specific Bequest
This is a gift of particular items of property that you wish to go to a particular person or organisation.
- General Bequest
Usually a sum of money or percentage of the value of your estate.
- Residual Bequest
A directive to deal with the remainder of your estate once general Bequests to relatives and friends have been allocated.

How would we use your gift?

Since 2008, St John of God Hauora Trust has delivered vital services that support vulnerable people in New Zealand.

We target philanthropic funding towards programmes and initiatives that improve life for people living with a disability, or improve services or care coordination for vulnerable and at-risk youth.

Our organisation continually looks to ways we can improve and better support people. Philanthropic support is an important way we identify and serve this need in communities.

Honoring your specific wishes

If there is a particular service or programme that is close to your heart, we welcome you stating in your bequest exactly what you would like to use the money for.

We would greatly appreciate a discussion with you if you are thinking of something specific, so we can ensure we are best able to honour your wishes.

MOTOMed trainer improves quality of life for residents living with disabilities

A specific gift from a family in 2018 facilitated the purchase of a MOTOMed trainer. This important piece of rehabilitation equipment helps people to exercise inactive limbs to stimulate circulation as well as promoting and building strength.

Resident Tyler first came to St John of God Halswell for respite and day stay care in 2017 then becoming a full-time resident in 2019.

The gym at The Granada Centre became a quick favourite for Tyler who since becoming a resident is really pleased the gym and MotoMED has helped him lose nearly 20kg.

"The MotoMED has stripped kilos off for me. It's helping my legs stand up straighter so I can stand up straighter instead of losing my balance. It helps with leg stimulation helping my legs to feel stronger. In MotoMED March I did about 80km and am looking forward to MotoMED March and May next year."

Jack Haughton, Manager of The Granada Centre for Rehabilitation and Therapy said the MotoMED has been a vital tool in supporting our residents.

"The MotoMED is our most used piece of equipment in the whole gym. In March 2020 we organised a competition called MotoMED March which the residents really got into. Some of the residents had nearly clocked 100km on it until the point we had to bring it to an early close because of the COVID-19 lockdown."

The Granada Centre provides Rehabilitation and Therapy services for residents living at St John of God Halswell as well as supporting an increasing number of clients requiring Transitional Rehabilitation Care.

The MotoMED trainer at The Granada Centre is one of a number of pieces of essential equipment that we would not have access to without important philanthropic support.

Social Housing HOPE for Young Parents

The HOPE programme provides a vital role for vulnerable young parents, supporting access to wrap around services like social work and pregnancy and parenting education services, as well as supporting them to navigate and access housing services via the Ministry of Social Development.

The ACC funded programme aims to improve child safety in New Zealand homes as well as promote injury prevention and child safety to communities. Since March 2019 St John of God Waipuna has provided 19 in-home safety assessments including funded installation of 254 safety devices.

Sieni Afamiliona, HOPE Project Worker, said “We are meeting young parents at a crisis point in life and the support we provide is critical. We’re seeing mums sleeping on couches, eligible for high priority housing, but knocked down the list as they are classified as ‘housed’. With HOPE we can be there, make the calls to MSD, take them to appointments, and support them to access the right service when its needed.”

“If clients have historical issues with government services or have been victims of abuse, the need for one-on-one support is even higher to help navigate government services, especially when it comes to accessing private rentals. A lot of our clients don’t have rental references or even know they are eligible for rental supplements, they don’t have the resources to pay deposits or have the tools to put themselves forward in the right way. We work closely with leasing agents and providers alongside our clients to create solutions that work for everyone.”

Along with the managed installation of safety equipment like child safety gates and furniture brackets, the HOPE team is uniquely placed to support families with injury prevention and health promotion advice relating to child safety.

The HOPE Social Housing Programme would not be possible without philanthropic funding from a number of funders including the Tindall Foundation.

Leading Reintegration for Young People who have Offended

Our 14 week Adventure Therapy partnership programme with the Department of Corrections dramatically reduces reoffending. This vital programme provides prosocial support and mentoring to sustain this important outcome while supporting them towards education and employment.

Client TJ first came to Waipuna in 2016 as part of the Mauri Toa Rangatahi programme. TJ was a stand out on this programme, his confidence grew and he challenged himself continuously in all areas. He was committed to developing himself and he had a huge amount of motivation to make changes in his life.

At the end of the programme TJ asked if he could do the programme again as he believed it would be beneficial for him. He was reassessed and accepted, a big reason for him coming back onto the programme was we knew he would be a good positive role model within the group and he would lead by example and he did exactly that. He continued to challenge himself and his leadership developed and he remained fully committed to the programme.

He has since move out to his own place once his son was born and this has been crucial for him to continue to grow and mature. He is currently employed by an organisation who continuously provide positive feedback on how he is doing.

TJ takes every opportunity we give him to be involved in pro social healthy activities. He is a committed member of our evening support group and he has been getting involved with events that we go to. He did the 10km run at the Christchurch Marathon and he completed the Bridge to Bridge 58km mountain bike race in horrendous weather with a massive smile on his face.

TJ is clearly focused on giving his son a good life and he is stepping up to the challenges that come his way. We are committed to continuing to support TJ wherever we can as he accepts the support and makes the most of the opportunities that come his way.

MenzShed Halswell Partnership to deliver more accommodation choices for Transitional Rehabilitation

Our partnership with MenzShed Halswell is a unique collaboration showcasing the future of accessibility technology. Our Tiny Home will contain the latest innovations in smart home and assistance technology with applications beyond residential disability care.

St John of God Halswell will utilise the unit for Transitional Rehabilitation Care. This accommodation option will provide choice and flexibility for a person face ongoing barriers and challenges to participating in a community setting.

Virginia Spoor, Health and Ability Services Southern Regional Manager, said the Tiny Home fills a unique space in supporting people as part of a Transitional Rehabilitation Journey.

"We know that people living with a disability often face significant challenges in the availability and suitability of housing options as they move into a community environment. The Tiny Home will be a supported living option for a resident to help achieve their goals in community living, while still having onsite residential care support available."

The MenzShed Halswell has operated at the grounds of St John of God Halswell for over four years and formally signed an MOU with St John of God Hauora Trust for the building of the Tiny Home in 2019.

The completion of the Tiny Home will be a community endeavour that will rest upon the philanthropic support of local businesses and donors.
